A WHACK ALONGSIDE THE HEAD!

Don't let this headline fool you! This and other subjects covered at our January Pastors' Retreat will have a vital effect on your ministry. Innovation, relaxation, motivation, good food, stimulating conversation and an occasional good laugh - we have it all beginning 12:00 noon, January 3. The conference ends at 2:00 P.M., January 4. The results could last a lifetime!

BILLY BEVAN
President

A Whack Alongside The Head! is a title borrowed from a book on innovation, published several years ago. We are using it at our January Retreat because it so accurately describes a mindset that is so prevalent, among many of us, in fundamental Bible believing ministries today.

How often have we said, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it!" Or, "We've done it this way for years - why change now?"

This type of "ministry mindset" has all too often prevented us from recognizing and meeting the needs of the people who God has called us to serve. We experience a decline in church attendance or school enrollment and resign ourselves to saying, "People don't respond like they use to. Times surely have changed."

You're right and it's time we recognize that fact and react accordingly. Maybe it's time for "A Whack Alongside The Head" to get our attention.

For example...have you considered that over thirty percent of the American people feel that they don't have enough time? Should you consider that as you plan your ministry programs? The answer is "yes" and we'll give you some good ideas! Do you realize that the people that we serve are a part of one of the most materialistic generations in history? The competition for tuition dollars or a faith promise missions pledge may be a payment on a new car or new house. We need to know that and relate to our constituents accordingly.

Years ago William Jennings Bryan said, "The apathy of the people is enough to make the statues leap from their pedestals and hasten the resurrection of the dead." Southeastern Free Will Baptist College stands for the old time fundamentals of the faith but we do not want to stand still when innovation and action are required to help us serve more effectively.

How often have we said . . . "We've done it this way for years - why change now?"

I challenge you. Don't miss the Pastors' Retreat, January 3 and 4 on our campus. You'll not be disappointed. Southeastern is committed to leading the way in providing innovative tools that will help you build your ministry for God's glory.

AND THAT'S NOT ALL!

DAVE BENOIT

Dave Benoit has devoted his life to exposing the dangers of rock music and the violent and satanic effect that it is having on our young people.

He believes that we are losing many of our teenagers through the devil's "home school" program. We may take a strong stand against rock music in the church and the Christian school but we're losing our kids at home because many parents are uninformed. Maybe we can help.

AND THERE'S MORE!

A. A. BAKER

Southeastern's Fall enrollment is up 24% over last year and we thank the Lord for His blessing. The increased growth and ministry opportunities are a direct result of prayer, a quality program, a lot of hard work and some key marketing insight.

President Bevan's "Southeastern Success Story" will feature some marketing principles presented by A.

A. Baker, President of A. A. Baker Communications. You'll find that the term "marketing" has less to do with some Madison Avenue technique than with meeting the needs of the people that we serve. Dr. Baker is prepared to provide some "Whacks Alongside The Head" at the January Retreat.

AND IF THAT'S NOT ENOUGH

How would you like to have a session where our own Free Will Baptist pastors present their "10 Best Ideas for Church Growth in 1991?" Or, maybe participate in a stimulating "focus group" discussion on how to effectively identify and solve the problems our churches are facing today. We'll offer these, too.

AND TO TOP IT ALL

Wings of Freedom, Bobby Venable will present a unique ministry that can be of great service to you. The Retreat finale will feature a unique approach to spiritual gifts. We're going to have a great time!

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN BE SURE YOUR PLACE IS RESERVED

STUDENTS IN CHRISTIAN SERVICE

With the increased enrollment this semester has come more witnesses for Christ from the students at Southeastern. Students serve in positions needed in local churches which include nursery workers, children's church, bus ministry, etc. In some cases, students work part-time on the staff of churches while still in school.

A new development this semester is the "tract team." This is a group of young men who canvas downtown Raleigh with gospel tracts and one on one witnessing.

Several student preachers have filled in for churches needing pulpit supply in the absence of the Pastor. More and more calls come in for these young men to preach at youth rallies and regular services.

A number of students visit two nursing homes on Sunday afternoon to encourage and comfort patients who live there.

The intent is to utilize the zeal and abilities of young people to assist churches and other needy areas with a dynamic witness for Christ.✠

Thanks

It is impossible to place within these pages the many gifts that we get through the year but occasionally a person, a church or an organization gives a very special gift that deserves notice. Listed below are some of these special gifts. To those who gave we say "Thank You."

A full size school bus for Christian service and student activities was given by the First Free Will Baptist Church of Hubert, NC.

A station wagon for running errands and the use of the Christian service department was given by a dear lady in the First Free Will Baptist Church of Raleigh.

A $3,125 gift was given by a dear couple from the Cramerton Free Will Baptist Church of Cramerton, North Carolina. This gift was designated to help pay for our buildings and was given in the memory of the late Rev. Bob King.

A set of flags that are now in our chapel were given by a Raleigh North Carolina chapter of the Woodmen of the World.

A Macintosh computer and related software was given by a college friend of Bro. Bevan.

MISSIONS RETREAT ECHOES

Awesome! Fantastic! Fabulous! Wonderful! Outstanding! These were just some of the words that were echoed about our recent missions retreat. Everything was perfect for a great retreat. The weather could not have been better, the food was great, the program was designed to meet our needs.

"IS IT YOUR LIFE?" was the theme that was developed by our speakers. Matthew 10:39 gave us our theme, "He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it." Clint Morgan, missionary to Ivory Coast, was our guest missionary and everyone enjoyed and was challenged by his message and presentation of the African field. Our spirit-filled service around the bonfire was one of the highlights of the retreat. Bro. Bill Fulcher, Rev. & Mrs. Fred McCracken, and Mrs. Haas joined Dr. Joe Haas in leading the retreat program. Donnie Burke and Heidi Fisher, students, did a great job directing the music.

Plans are already being made for our retreat next year and we are certain that God will use these retreats in calling our students to the mission fields of the world.†

FUN-FILLED DAYS OF CHALLENGE

Nothing could be better than taking a few days off from school and heading to SOUTHEASTERN FREE WILL BAPTIST COLLEGE for GET ACQUAINTED DAYS!

This was the case for 64 young people and 9 sponsors on November 1-3. To the Administration, faculty, staff and students at Southeastern, these days are great because we get to have company....that always calls for extra plans, extra food and extra special fun!!

To get things started on Thursday night, students had to find someone that used the same kind of toothpaste....how about that for getting to know you? This was followed by an opera performed by our Music Department, "I Must Have My Prunes!" (It was hilarious.)

The Music Department then presented "real" music for our guests with a final challenge from God's Word by Professor Danny Baer.

What next? I thought you'd never ask. Off to the dorms for little or no rest for the night; up early for a wonderful breakfast of pancakes and sausage; then, off to class for a brief insight into course offerings. Sponsors were treated with a brunch and special gifts for participating. Rev. Doug King, one of Free Will Baptist's youngest pastors, challenged everyone to hang in there when things are toughest (Psalm 56:3).

The afternoon brought rabbit races, tub tugs, wheelbarrow races, tug of war across Southeastern's memorable lake, and society flag football games. Nighttime fell with society drama and games with a grand finale pizza blast in the dorms.

Wow! I'm tired, but what fun. We can hardly wait until next spring and hope YOU will make your plans to be with us. WE LOVE COMPANY and would love to "Get Acquainted" with you. Be watching for forthcoming information about upcoming events at a college that really cares about serving you--SOUTHEASTERN FREE WILL BAPTIST COLLEGE.†

Is God Really Working?

Each one of us in the ministry often wonders if God is really at work in some of our plans and programs. In the last issue of our newsletter we made an appeal for donations that would be used for a student loan fund. Here is a letter that came as a result:

My mother just recently passed away, and I have never felt a loss as I do from losing her. She was a saint of God if there has ever been one. She didn't have too much as far as worldly goods are concerned, but she left me a heritage that money couldn't buy.

Last Saturday I received a check from her estate for $1,528.13. I realize that's a very small amount if you just think of it as money. I couldn't sleep Saturday night for thinking about what I was going to do with the money. (I'm sure you realize we are not rich.) My first thought was "I am going to tithe to Southeastern out of it." But, the strange thing about it is that, on the same day, we got the leaflet (the newsletter) from Southeastern asking for $1,500.00 for the Student Loan Fund. I really tried to bargain with God about the matter, but in the wee hours of the morning I decided God really meant for me to give the $1,500.00. I could almost hear Him audibly say "You can have the $28.13, but you have to give the rest to Southeastern."

I haven't told you all this for any praise at all on my part. I just wanted you to know God is still working in hearts and I believe you're doing a good job at the college. I'm sure there are many dedicated people there and we're praying for all of you.

It is a thrill to know that we can make plans here in Wendell, North Carolina and God can move on the heart of an individual hundreds of miles away in another state. To Him be the praise!

Is the Lord dealing with you to help us? We believe the hand of God is on our ministry and we want you to seek His hand to guide you in your giving.

If you feel led to give, please use the envelope provided. Whether you are able to send us a sizeable gift to help with our loan fund or any size gift as simply a love offering, we want you to know that it is deeply appreciated.✠
