FROM THE "OTHER" SIDE OF THE BED

I would normally address another theme for my article, but due to the events of the past few days, I think the following will be appropriate.

For almost twenty years now, I have stood beside many hospital beds, visited in many intensive care units, and sat in many family waiting rooms. I have done so as a pastor to my people, trying to comfort and console in some of life's most trying moments for them.

But on Tuesday, October 24th, instead of me doing the comforting, I was the one in need of comfort.

The Board of Directors were meeting on campus for a special called meeting October 24th. About 3:00 in the afternoon, our meeting was interrupted by one of our college students, informing me that I had an important phone call.

As I excused myself from the meeting, I wondered who and what it could be. As I spoke into the phone, I recognized the quivering voice of my wife, Gloria. We have been married for twenty years, and I had never heard the fear in her voice that I heard then as she said to me, "Billy, I'm taking Mischa to the emergency room." I told Gloria I would meet her there.

(Mischa had gone to school that morning, but had returned home around 8:00 A.M. with a headache. The headache grew progressively worse, even to the point of nausea, and by mid-afternoon, Mischa was literally screaming in pain.)

What happened after that almost seems like a nightmare, and it is certainly the last thing you think of happening to you and your family.

As you may know, they don't seem to get in a hurry, when you are in the emergency room, especially if it's your family—if you know what I mean! But finally, at 8:00 P.M., the results of the CAT scan came back, and the radiologist said there was a mass on the brain. A neuro-surgeon was called in for verification. The doctor looked at me, Gloria and Mischa and said, "She will have to have surgery within the next couple of days."

Wham! We were numb! My mind raced a thousand miles a minute. Can this really be happening? No, this is not so, it is only a bad dream! But it was so.

Mischa's condition worsened, and she had to have surgery the next day. They began the operation around 4:00 P.M. to remove the tumor.

NEW STAFF MEMBERS ON BOARD

We are pleased to welcome three new staff members who began their duties as the new school year began.

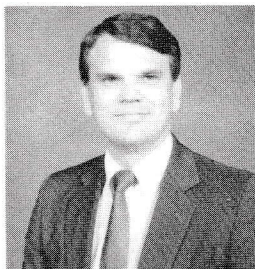

Cindy Austin comes to us from Clarksville, TN where she and her husband David attended Emmanuel FWB Church along with their two sons, Daniel and David. Mrs. Austin is filling a much needed role by assisting Mrs. Stepp in the kitchen. Her husband, David, is attending his first year of classes here at Southeastern. (Picture not available)

Originally from Michigan, Terry Miller was transplanted to Virginia Beach with his family and was attending the Gateway FWB Church when he first became acquainted with Southeastern. He eventually became a student at the college and after graduating in 1987, he, and his wife Tammy, moved to the chilly state of Rhode Island to help Pete Minor in the mission work there. Mr. Miller is now back at Southeastern as our maintenance man and is planning on staying in the area until his wife can complete her education. Right now, though, Tammy has her hands full while taking care of their new born son, Joshua.

After Bro. Bevan took over as an "off-campus" President, it was apparent that he was going to need some assistance in watching over the non-teaching personnel as well as the business activities of the college. For this reason, he called upon Danny Baer who was then pastoring in Williamsburg, Virginia. Mr. Baer is a graduate of Ohio State University, a two year alumni of Free Will Baptist Bible College and has a Masters Degree in Administration from Pensacola Christian College. After serving in a number of churches and schools in Ohio, Mr. Baer and his wife, Debbie, moved to Virginia Beach to work in the Gateway FWB Church where he ministered for seven years before moving on to Williamsburg, where they have lived with their four children for the past three years. In addition to his duties in the office, Mr. Baer teaches in the areas of Bible and business with an emphasis in computers. Please pray that the Baers will be able to sell their house in Virginia and move to the Wendell area soon.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. BEVAN HONORED

To welcome Bro. Bevan and his wife, Gloria, to the ministry at Southeastern, some presentations were made at the opening services of the fall semester.

A gift certificate to a nice local restaurant was presented as well as a dozen red roses to our new "first lady."

These were only small tokens from the faculty and staff to say in a tangible way that we are delighted to have President and Mrs. Bevan "on the team."

NOW IS THE TIME

'Continue the Miracle'
Report

A few weeks ago you received a letter asking for your sacrificial gift to help in some present needs. These have been difficult days and we thank each of you for your continued support to our college. Many churches and individuals have given above and beyond their regular giving - for this we are most grateful. Although we have not heard from all of our friends, we have received over $15,000 at the time of this writing towards this special project.

Is the miracle continuing? You can count on it! The atmosphere on campus is at a high. God has truly been blessing in our chapel services. Our singing groups, including our new ensemble, are reporting some blessed times of service while ministering in our churches. There is a tremendous spirit of a renewed commitment to all of the wonderful things that this school stands for in the faculty and student body.

The miracle is indeed continuing but we still need your help. If you have not been able to send us a special gift either personally or from your church we ask that you will prayerfully consider sharing in the support of what God is doing in our midst. Please act soon. Remember, NOW IS THE TIME to 'Continue the Miracle.'

As I stated earlier, I have stood by many beds over the past twenty years, but I never felt the anguish of soul that I felt that Wednesday evening as Mischa was being operated on.

I can tell you - it's a whole lot different standing on the other side of the bed. All of a sudden it becomes a lot easier to tell other folks to depend on the Lord, than it is for you to practice it when it is you.

We saw the doctor about 6:15 P.M. The report was not all we wanted it to be. He had removed three quarters of the tumor, and informed us that the tumor was malignant, but we would have to wait on the pathology test before we would know to what degree.

There were approximately forty-five of our church people waiting in that hallway to hear the doctor's report. I took all of them into a small chapel area, and as best I could, told them what the doctor told me. It was not what we wanted to hear, but I told them we were just going to have to trust the Lord.

A dear lady from my church, which I have pastored for ten years, spoke up and said, "Preacher, I have been here and the doctors' have told me on a couple of occasions that there was no hope for my children and my husband, but they are here today, and, Preacher, the doctors don't know everything."

She said, "I think we ought to pray, and beg God to work a miracle. Not just a lay-me-down-to-sleep prayer, but agonize with God."

And there in that chapel, forty-five folks joined hands with me and my wife, and that dear lady literally got on her face in the floor and prayed a prayer I will never forget if I live to be a hundred!

And may I report, God has answered prayers. Mischa is improving daily. She has a good spirit. We are taking it a day at a time, and a goal for each day.

The Lord has taught me many things during the past week, and I don't have time to reiterate all of the lessons. The one I do want to mention is the "value of friends."

I want to take this opportunity to thank literally hundreds of people who have prayed, called and sent cards. The out-pouring of concern has been overwhelming to me and my wife. We will never forget what you have done for us. I don't believe we could have made it without you.

To every preacher, pastor, church, Christian school, college, national and state office, and individual who has prayed or called, may I say thank you so much! Thank you for taking the time to care. Thank you for your concern and your prayers.

Yes, it is different on the other side of the bed. But I can tell you this, God's grace is the same on both sides. He will do what He has promised and more. And when you don't think you can handle any more, He gives new grace to see you through.

I believe God has heard the prayers of His people. Mischa is doing remarkably well. She has come a long way, but she still has a long way to go. Thank you again for all your support and prayers. Continue to pray for us.

"Tip Off Tournament"

The 1989 Southeastern FWB College Tip Off Tournament will be held November 30 through December 2 this year. It looks like it will be a very exciting tournament. One aspect of this year's tournament should prove to add extra excitement to the action—five of the eight schools competing are coached by Southeastern graduates.

Bethel Christian Academy is coached by Todd Haynes, '89, Emmanuel Christian from Wabash, Indiana is coached by Jeff Pope, '88, Mt. Calvary is coached by Glenn Tripp, '88, Jeff Jones, '88, is the coach for Hilltop Christian, and Steve Berry, '89, is coaching the Northside Christian team from Oklahoma City. Faith Christian from Goldsboro and Raleigh Christian round out this year's tournament field.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS HONORS DR. JOSEPH G. ANGE

At Southeastern's first public meeting following the resignation of Dr. Joseph Ange as president, President Billy Bevan represented the Board of Directors of Southeastern in honoring Dr. Ange officially. A gift of a deluxe gas grill was given to enhance his family fellowship. A personal gift of an overcoat was also presented to Dr. Ange to say thank you to him for all of the personal sacrifices he had made to promote this ministry. A beautiful plaque was presented in an effort to say in a lasting way—thank you for your part in building a ministry where the goals are to have lasting results that count for eternity.

Countless hours of planning, preparing, praying and promoting permeated Dr. Ange's tenure here at Southeastern. We have often heard Dr. Ange comment that he felt one major accomplishment God would use him to do was to establish a campus and build the necessary buildings to operate. He accomplished his task.

EXHIBITION TEAM

"New Recruitment Tool"

Southeastern has embarked on a new program of promotion and student recruitment through the use of an exhibition basketball team. Two games have been played so far with very favorable results.

The program entails a team of Southeastern students going to a Christian school for an exhibition game. After the game, the ballplayers and cheerleaders have a time of fellowship with the Christian school young people. After the fellowship time, one of the ballplayers from Southeastern brings a devotion to the whole group.

The two schools played so far are Faith Christian in Goldsboro, NC and Peninsula Christian in Smithfield, VA.

The college is expecting equally profitable trips to other Christian schools as the school year progresses.

EXCITEMENT AND CHALLENGE CAN BE YOURS

"Enroll This Spring"

It is time to enroll for the spring semester — January 10-19 are the dates for our interterm session with the spring semester beginning January 22. There is much excitement about next semester with a number of new events planned for our students.

Our current semester has undoubtedly been one of the best ever. A number of students have commented that it has been the most exciting semester they have experienced.

Are you a prospective student and interested in attending Southeastern in January? Please contact us as soon as possible and enjoy the challenge of your chosen course of study and the excitement of making new friends on a Christian college campus.
