We're Looking For You At Our Spring Conference

April 19-21 is just around the corner, and we are excited about our upcoming Revival and Soul Winning Conference.

We have a great line-up of preachers, and the activities we are planning around our 10th Anniversary will make this our best conference ever!

Rev. Dann Patrick, Dr. Lee Roberson, and Dr. Randy Cox will preach to us on Monday.

Bro. Dann will be joined on Tuesday by A. B. Brown, Tim Rabon and Jeff Jones.

We will conclude our conference on Wednesday with Karl Sexton joining A. B. Brown and Dann Patrick. This is a good mix of the young and the older. I know these men are going to bless our hearts.

Don't forget that on Tuesday evening our choir will present a choir concert. It is possible that Squire Parsons may be with us to debut the new choir tape, To Him Be Glory. This has become one of our best services.

We're all geared up for you to come! In fact, we've ordered a larger tent! Why not get your preacher friends, church people,

How About Using Our "Preacher-Boys?"

President Billy Bevan

God has blessed Southeastern over the years with a good music program, and at times a very good one. Since it is our music groups that travel in the promotional work, they have been more on display than any other part of our college. We don't apologize for that, in fact, we are very grateful to the Lord that he has given us those who have the abilities to minister through music. (I'd sure rather have good singers than bad ones, wouldn't you?)

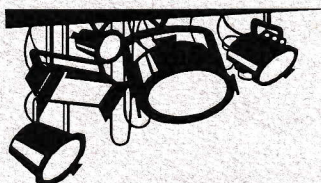

Because of that, we often get the rap of being a "music school." I certainly don't think that's so, nor do I think it is really fair. I know that there is not one member of our staff that would push music over preaching. The irony of this situation is the fact that quite possibly the best preacher among us is in charge of our music and homiletics programs!

Southeastern's stand is stated in I Cor. 1:21, "...it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe." It is our intent and desire to put a premium on preaching. I can assure you, that if you will send us more preachers from your churches, emphasis on preaching will pick up greatly.

Enough of my sermonizing. Let me ask you to do something. I would like for you to use some of our preacher-boys. Our music is magnified because people want our groups to come and sing! Why not allow some of our young preachers to come and preach Wednesday night, Sunday night, in your school chapel, etc. There's only one way to learn to preach and that's by preaching. Our fellows would appreciate the opportunity, and I believe they would be a blessing to you and your people. Why not give a young preacher an opportunity to preach?

If you will do so, please call me personally at (919) 365-7711, and I will arrange to get one of our young men who will do you a good job.

I will appreciate your help. ✨

SPOTLIGHT ON ALUMNI

What a privilege it is for us at Southeastern to watch our graduates launch further into Christian service after their college days are over.

Steve and Denise Cox are presently serving at the First Free Will Baptist Church, Raleigh, NC.

Denise was the first graduate from our Business Department (1987). While attending Southeastern, she assisted with secretarial work in the college office and continued after graduation. Since becoming a mother, Denise has majored on home care, but still is actively involved in the Lord's work. She is a substitute teacher for Raleigh Christian Academy, sings in the choir, teaches a K-5 Sunday School class and is a "Pink Bouquet" Assistant.

Steve graduated from Southeastern in 1988 with a Bachelor Degree in Biblical Studies. After graduation Steve worked as Associate Pastor at the Lighthouse F.W.B. Church in Montgomery, Alabama.

Presently, he serves as Associate Pastor at First Church. He is in charge of the bus ministry, children's church, teaches 8th grade Bible at RCA, assists with the evangelism outreach and supervises the Toddler Department, Spanish Ministry and Pink Bouquets.

Steve and Denise have two children, Steve, Jr. and Ethan. ✨

IMPORTANT ALUMNI MEETING APRIL 19

Timothy Williams
Vice President, Alumni Association

Make your plans now to attend our 10th Year Anniversary Alumni Meeting/Luncheon during our upcoming Revival and Soul Winning Conference.

Our conference this year will prove to be great with the preaching of two of our alumni: Jeff Jones and Karl Sexton. Come and give them your support.

On Monday, April 19, we will be having our annual Alumni Luncheon. The luncheon will be held at The Meeting Place in Wendell from 12:30-2:00 p.m. Following our luncheon, we will have a short business meeting which will include the electing of our new officers.

Plan to attend our conference as well as our luncheon.

Let me encourage you to support our Alumni Association by sending your annual dues of $10 to our secretary, Miss Sonya Cheney, at the college address.

Please begin to pray about what the Lord would have you to do in support of our great college for the upcoming year. Let me share something with you. We have over 600 alumni of Southeastern. Think about what the Lord could do for our college if each one of us, or each one of our families, would give $500 or maybe $1000, over the next year?

May each one of us retain the burden for Southeastern Free Will Baptist College. Let's discuss the possibilities at our upcoming meeting. ✨

A Senior's Reflection

In the life of every individual, there are stepping stones which build and mold the life of that person. Southeastern College has been one of those stepping stones in my life. The staff has been consistent to demonstrate the reality of serving Christ completely. Southeastern has encouraged me to properly prepare myself as a preacher, but more importantly how to live a victorious Christian life. Classes have taught me to study and enhanced my desire to know the truths of the Word of God. Thank God for a college that not only teaches, but also a college that challenges.

ACCREDITATION

For good reasons the word "accreditation" has been a cause for real concern among God's people. The reason for this concern was fear of government intervention. Christian institutions of higher learning have long recognized the danger of tying themselves into the government in any relationship which would jeopardize their autonomy and spiritual freedom. No arm of the Church dare place itself in a position where it becomes subject to the state which can then dictate its theology or policy. Jesus Christ must at all cost remain the Head of the Church and all its ministries. That scriptural principle must never be abdicated!

However, it is possible for an institution of higher learning to be accredited without being accredited by the government and without compromising its doctrinal integrity. We at Southeastern are presently seeking full accreditation with the Trans National Association of Christian Colleges and Schools. This organization is not an arm of the state. It is a thoroughly orthodox Christian organization which has been recognized by the Department of Education and given the right to accredit Christian institutions of higher learning. It gained that recognition because it is a credible organization with the highest educational standards.

It is possible to be accredited without being accredited by the government and without compromising doctrinal integrity.

Why? Why bother with accreditation? There are several reasons for pursuing accreditation.

1. It will make SE a better institution by forcing us to upgrade our program and faculty. Several of our faculty members are already pursuing advanced degrees which will obviously make them more competent in their respective fields.

2. We will be a better college by being forced to do a self-study in order to evaluate ourselves as to how well we are doing in achieving our stated goals.

3. We will be evaluated by an outside team of educators who understands what it takes to be a sound Christian institution of higher learning. Their observations and suggestions will be invaluable.

4. Our students will be able to transfer their credits to other colleges and graduate schools with less difficulties. Although our students have transferred to a number of sister colleges and some have gotten into graduate programs, accreditation would make this much easier.

5. This will qualify the college for thousands of dollars in matching gifts that we are presently losing because we are not accredited.

Finally, we are not giving up anything to gain accreditation. We will still be an autonomous Bible-believing institution that can withdraw at anytime we desire. As it stands right not, it will be hard and expensive but the benefits far outweigh the difficulties and the expenses. ✨
