THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Unfolding Drama

Southeastern Free Will Baptist College is an exciting place to be while learning and serving. History is being made every day. The faculty and staff are dedicated, serving and very effective — all 19 of them. The day to day events are thrilling, varied, serious, funny and all a part of the serious but enjoyable ministry of training our youth for the glory of God.

Yes, those events are exciting such as: a young co-ed telling me that she and another student won two to the Lord this week . . . the Christian Service Report showing that more than 1200 are witnessed to each week by our student body . . . the student body leading from 15 to 25 souls to the Lord each week . . . the faculty members and student groups preaching on weekends and other times from Maine to Texas with thrilling results . . . a pastor from East Tennessee telling me what a blessing two of our preacher boys were in his church last weekend . . . a young man talking with me about finding the will of God in his life and another discussing the possibility that God is calling him to the mission field.

Those events do pile up to bless when all of us share in a Sunday School with 1783 attending last Sunday and almost 1900 in church. One cannot ignore a Joe Haas challenging all of us for missions in a chapel message. There is plenty to get excited about when the college administration begins to talk to a realtor and city officials about adequate acreage to build a college campus for a growing student body. All of these, and many, many more, are part of the exciting events that make up the book of His-story here at Southeastern.

If you are a prospective student for training in a Christian College, consider becoming a part of these dramatic events.

If you are a pastor, parent or guardian of young people, I urge you to suggest Southeastern to them. Encourage them to write to the Office of Admissions for details on becoming a student.

If you are one of our supporting friends, pastors or churches, you are a vital part of the unfolding Southeastern Free Will Baptist College drama.

Elsewhere in this issue are important dates of upcoming events. Try to attend one or more of these. Even better, we would love to have you visit any time.

Exhibiting His Holiness

The goal of salvation in the life of a believer is that he be conformed to the image of the Lord Jesus Christ. The formation of the life of Christ in the heart of the child of God is the essence of true spirituality. Closely related to this is the biblical truth of holiness. True spirituality is manifested in a life of holiness unto the Lord. The standard by which spirituality is measured is the Word of God. By obedience to God's Word, by the renewal of the mind and by beholding the glory of the Lord are we transformed into the image of Jesus Christ.

At Southeastern, we believe that biblical standards and convictions are a valid expression of true spirituality and holiness. While we would not confuse one's personal standards with holiness itself nor do we believe that standards produce true spirituality, we do believe that they reflect a heart that is committed to living a life free from compromise and that they flow from a desire to walk with God in authentic holiness.

While the very concept of standards are ridiculed in some segments of the church, we make no apology for the old fashioned standards and convictions that we hold to at Southeastern. In a generation that has moved the ancient landmarks, we are seeking to instill in students a standard of holiness and purity that exhibits the image of Jesus Christ.
